CHINESE OUTRAGES.

Fears of Further Attacks on Foreigners.

Results of the Investigation at Ku Cheng.

TOKIO, Sept. 26, via San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Ugly rumors are circulated in China as to the probability of fresh anti-foreign outrages. From Hankow it is reported that a day had more than once been fixed for attacking the foreigners, but as that kind of thing had been going on for the past three years no particular attention was paid to it, until news came that a despatch had come from Pekin ordering a reduction of twenty per cent. in the pay of the Wu Chang garrison and the discharge of a considerable number of soldiers for the sake of economy. The probable effect of these measures was to induce the removal September 12 of all foreign ladies and children, as well as of the girls in the American mission boarding-house, from Wu Chang to the concession. Whether owing to these precautions or to some other cause, the threatened trouble did not break out. But it is easy to conceive that the adoption of such measures may attract the very peril they are intended to avert, since they serve to indicate the most vulnerable point on the foreign side.

The Mohammedan rebellion still continues to defy the resources of the Chinese authorities. Troops are being sent up the river by steamers from Hankow to the scene of the disturbance, but as they are a rabble of the same quality that made such a miserable stand against the Japanese in the recent war, their ability to quell the rebellion is very doubtful.

The details of the investigation conducted at Ku Cheng in the presence of a commission consisting of two consuls, British and American, and other foreigners have been published. The commissioners reached Ku Cheng August 17, and by the twentieth the prefect had received telegraphic instructions from the viceroy, telling him to do exactly as the consuls wished. Accordingly the examination of the prisoners commenced Wednesday, the twenty-first, or rather their re-examination, for they had already been questioned by the Chinese magistrate. What this preliminary questioning involved must be left to the imagination. Something of the pains that the prisoners had to undergo may be gathered from the remarkable readiness of their admissions before the foreign commissioners, but in two cases we are told that the men bore plain marks of the devices employed to extort confession. But happily, after the examination of about a score of prisoners, evidence has been collected sufficient to clearly indicate the persons chiefly concerned in the outrage. Then, at the instance of the consuls, the prefect telegraphed for the viceroy's permission, and obtained it, to dispense with the confession indicated by Chinese law as a preliminary essential to capital punishment.

It was conclusively proved that not more than a hundred vegetarians were present at the murdering and burning. Some two hundred set out from the association's fastnesses in the hills, but a moiety of the number dwindled away en route. Very few of them seem to have known exactly what was in contemplation. They went along in blind obedience to their leaders, but were ready enough to stab and plunder when the occasion presented itself. Several of the prisoners recently examined said that they had entered its ranks for the sake of getting cured of the opium vice.

There can be no doubt that the culpable perfunctoriness of the local authorities in dealing with these vegetarians was ultimately responsible for the Ku Cheng tragedy. Magistrate after magistrate had paltered with the law-breakers, and when at last two hundred soldiers were sent they lay inactive in Ku Cheng, while their presence was ascribed by the leaders of the vegetarians to foreign interference. The murderers of the missionaries appear to have facilitated their own apprehension by openly boasting of what they had done. Nevertheless, the energy displayed by the authorities, and the success achieved in hunting down and arresting suspects, indicate that the frequent failures of officials in China to bring retribution upon the heads of anti-foreign rioters in the past were due to want of will rather than ability.

At Ku Cheng the proverbial cupidity of the penurious Chinese was excited by promises of large rewards—as much as $900 was paid for the apprehension of one of the leaders—and it is said that two cartloads of silver were distributed from the magistrate's Yamen in connection with the arrests. Some of the prisoners showed much reluctance to speak, but were ultimately induced to do so by the application of torture, or by the incriminating evidence of their associates. Others were quite slow to acknowledge the part taken by them. One, both before and after his arrest, spoke frankly of having killed "a small foreigner;" another describes readily how he had helped to butcher Mr. Stewart and stabbed a lady in the back; a third recounted how the children were "stabbed just outside the house where they were gathering flowers," and how he inflicted the first wound on Mrs. Stewart by stabbing her in the lower jaw; and a fourth said: "I was with the body of men, about twenty, that surrounded the lower house where the ladies were. They offered us money, and said they would go to the city church with us if we would let them, and give them their umbrellas. This they said to Tai Nu Long. We killed them after the flag came with the command, carried by Chio Hi. One little man from Sungang and a tall man began, and then we all stabbed them. I stabbed a tall lady." In this way the particulars of the terrible tragedy were elicited.

The chief instigator of the outrage seems to have been a man known as "Long Finger Nails," a professional fortune teller. His motives are a mystery, but the evidence shows that he went among the vegetarians telling their fortunes, and that he made a point of warning them that they must choose between killing the foreigners or being done to death by them. Yet it would appear that the attack upon the mission was nominally the result of chance. The vegetarians, having made up their minds that some step must be taken to assert themselves against the authorities, cast lots whether they should destroy the house of a certain rich Chinaman, or set fire to the town in three places and kill the magistrates, or slaughter the foreigners at Whasang. Three times in succession the lot fell upon the last course. Similarly, by a mere chance, the victims failed to receive warning. One of the vegetarian leaders quarrelled with "Long Finger Nails," and gave information to a Christian named Fang of what was in progress. Fang sent word by letter to Mr. Stewart, but before the messenger reached his destination the catastrophe had been consummated.

After the first access of zeal the Chinese magistrates were overtaken by an apathetic mood. They averred that no examination should take place until the arrival of the Taotai; they released prisoners without consulting the foreign commissioners; they showed a disposition to think that, as eleven persons had been murdered, eleven decapitations would suffice, and they ceased to evince much desire for collecting evidence. But they were ultimately roused from this state and September 3 seventy-six of the vegetarians were executed in the presence of the foreign commissioners. At first the consuls had demanded that all the culprits and leaders should be taken down to Foo Chow for re-trial and examination, but they ultimately modified this, so that the actual murderers should be executed at Ku Cheng and the leaders alone sent to Foo Chow. Never before has the taking of foreign life in China been so signally and fully avenged.

WATERBURY'S BIG DAY.

Large Crowds in Attendance upon Her Triple Celebration.

WATERBURY, Conn., Oct. 15.—Waterbury today entertained more guests than ever before in its history—five thousand or more—at its triple celebration, the dedication of a new $100,000 Odd Fellows' building, the observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the order in the city, and the initial recognition of the new Connecticut holiday, Lincoln's day, a creation of the last general assembly. The city in gala attire was given over to its guests. All the public buildings and many mercantile establishments and residences were a mass of bunting and flags, intermingled with emblems of Odd Fellowship and portraits of Lincoln. A triumphal arch spanned West Main street in front of the city hall, and banners with devices of welcome hung in many places. The factories shut down, schools were closed and business was entirely suspended at noon.

In addition to the regular trains this forenoon, there were specials from New York, New Haven, Bridgeport, Springfield, Hartford and Meriden. All the dozen or more public halls in the city were used as special quarters for the visiting organizations. The especially large bodies included the regiments of Patriarchs Militant of Connecticut and western Massachusetts, and the lodges of Springfield, Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, Danbury and Meriden. The officers of the grand lodges of New York, Rhode Island and Connecticut were nearly all present. Magnolia Lodge of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the special guest of Nosahogan Lodge of Waterbury. Luncheon was served at 11 o'clock at all the public halls. This and the subsequent dinner was tendered by the citizens of Waterbury.

The forenoon was given over to the inspection of the new building and hall. At 1:30 a procession marched over a five mile course. The parade was reviewed by the mayor and all the other members of the city government, as well as town and school officials and visiting grand officers, from a reviewing stand on West Main street. At 5 o'clock dinner was served under tents on the large fence-enclosed lawn of the Waterbury Watch Company. It was a "cold dinner," and four thousand persons were enabled to sit down at one time. The waitresses were two hundred women employes of the watch company and one hundred from other factories, all in uniform. At 6 o'clock the grand officers and special guests gave a reception at the new hall. The dedication will take place at 7:30 o'clock and the dedication ball at the city hall from 8:30 to 3 A. M.

GONE FROM GRAY GABLES.

Mrs. Cleveland and the Babies on Their Way to Washington.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Cleveland, with Ruth, Esther and Marion Cleveland, nurse, governess and maid, accompanied by Secret Service Officers Hazen and McManus, who have been on duty here this summer, left Gray Gables by special train at 8:40 o'clock this morning. The train consisted of a director's car and a combination baggage car. The train ran special to Providence, R. I., where the cars were attached to the Colonial Express from Boston, due to arrive in Washington about 10 o'clock tonight. The party will make no stops on the journey. Train Despatcher Smith of the Cape division was on hand to look after the comfort of the party, and accompanied them part of the way. Col. [illegible] of the Taunton division was in charge of the train.

ENEMIES OF IRELAND.

Philadelphia Societies Denounce the Chicago New Movement as a Fraud.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—In response to a call issued by the United Irish societies of Philadelphia, a mass meeting was held last night in Industrial Art hall, which resulted in the passage of a resolution denouncing the Chicago convention held last month. After addresses had been delivered by Paul T. Sheehey and John Madden of Pittsburg, Patrick McGarry of Chicago and Terrance A. Donahue of New York against the "new movement," the secretary read a resolution repudiating the action of the "new movement," denouncing it as a fraud and its promoters as disreputable characters, and branding its officers as enemies of Ireland. This was passed unanimously by a standing vote.

Probably Dragged to Death by a Heifer.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Oct. 15.—Eugene Young of Gouldsboro, aged twenty-four years, was found dead in the road near his home yesterday afternoon, with his neck broken and his face and body covered with bruises. The theory of his death is that Young, who was subject to fits, was taken suddenly ill while leading a heifer, and became entangled with the rope and was dragged to death by the frightened animal.

WHY you should wear "Waukenhose." All intelligent people of the present day wear a boot on the right foot that is different from the one on the left, because such a boot is the only one that fits and does not distort the foot. For similar reasons they should wear stockings knit on the same plan. Of what avail indeed is a correctly shaped shoe if the toes within are drawn into a wedge shape by the ordinary misfit stocking?

THE WAUKENHOSE is the only stocking in the world knit to conform separately to the shape of each foot.

WELCOMED TO LORRAINE.

Immense Crowds Greet the German Emperor and Empress.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—The emperor, accompanied by the empress, arrived at Courcelles, Lorraine, this morning. The weather was cloudy and disagreeable, but this did not deter the inhabitants from turning out en masse to greet the imperial visitors. An immense crowd of people gathered at the station and cheered them as they alighted from the train. The houses were gaily decorated with flags and other emblems. The emperor and empress entered a carriage and were driven to the castle of Wivelle. Veterans of the war of 1870, school children and the fire brigade of the town lined the streets and cheered as the imperial carriage passed.

TO AID THEIR WEAKER SISTERS.

Second Day's Session of the National Purity Congress.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 15.—Motherly-looking women were largely in evidence at the second day's session of the National Purity Congress. Among those who have devoted years to aiding and comforting their more unfortunate sisters who have given way to human weaknesses and have become social outcasts were scattered a number of laymen and clergymen who, too, have identified themselves with the work. The delegates come from every section of the country to register a protest against the adoption of laws in any of the states which would legalize vice by licensing it.

A crowd of interested spectators was present at this morning's session, which began with the reading of a paper by Rev. W. T. Sabine, D. D., of New York, on "Social Vice and National Decay." Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, who was to have given an address today upon "Moral Equality Between the Sexes," was not able to be present, but her paper was read by President Powell. Emily Blackwell, M. D., of the Woman's Medical College, New York, spoke upon the responsibilities of women in regard to questions of public morality. Her paper was brief. Other papers of interest were also read.

Policeman and Highwayman Both Mortally Wounded.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 15.—Policeman John Corbett yesterday shot and mortally wounded William O'Connor, ex-convict and highwayman, whom he was trying to arrest. Corbett was almost cut to pieces with a knife, sustaining injuries from which he may die. During the melee Daniel McNamara, proprietor of the saloon where the tragedy was enacted, was shot through the left arm.

This Morning's News.

THE QUEEN "MISSING."

Result of Opposition to Modernized Soldiery.

Japanese Government to Thoroughly Investigate the Matter.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The Japanese legation has received a dispatch from the foreign office stating that a portion of the Korean army, excited by the report that the queen proposed to disarm and disband them, marched upon the palace, headed by Tai Won Kun. The dispatch does not state whether the queen was among those killed in the assault upon the palace. The Korean legation has received no advices relative to the affair.

QUEEN OF KOREA AND HER SLAVE.

The latest dispatch to Minister Kurino states that a force of Russian marines, 40 in number, has been landed. Thus far they have confined themselves to guarding the Russian legation at Seoul. United States marines were landed from the Yorktown to the number of 16. It is believed also that British marines have been landed. Besides these, the Japanese have a considerable force of soldiers at Seoul who have been preserving order.

The dispatches come from Tokio, and communicate the substance of dispatches received from General Muira, the Japanese envoy at Seoul. They are dated from the 9th to the 12th insts. It appears in these dispatches that the trouble had its inception through the queen's dislike of the newly organized soldiery of Korea. The old soldiers had the primitive equipment of the far East, but with the progress of Japanese influence in Korea two battalions of Korean troops were organized on modern methods. Each battalion numbered 600 men, armed with modern weapons. They were

Well-Drilled and Officered.

When the queen showed her disfavor toward these new troops, they appealed to Tai Won Kun, a powerful chief who has long been at enmity with the queen. He accepted the leadership of the new troops, and at the head of one battalion entered the queen's palace. The native soldiers fled from the palace.

The Tokio dispatches do not state specifically what became of the queen, further than that she has disappeared and cannot be located. The officials are inclined to believe, however, that the unofficial reports of the queen's death are true. The Japanese government, the dispatches further state, has acted quickly on the reports, and has appointed a commission to inquire into the facts.

In the meantime, it is emphatically denied that the queen's death, if it has occurred, was due to the Japanese. One report is that a Japanese soshi killed the queen. This is not yet confirmed in the dispatches received here. The officials say that the soshi are an irresponsible and lawless class, and that their acts cannot be laid to the Japanese people or government.

General Muria's reports also cover the work of Japanese troops in preserving order. These troops are stationed opposite the palace, having secured this point of vantage some time since through the Korean government.

They Took No Part

in the attack on the palace, but after it had occurred, when the native troops were fleeing and the new battalions were enforcing their success in capturing the palace, the Japanese troops aided in preventing bloodshed and disorder. It is probable that some deaths occurred during the melee. Following this came the landing of the United States and Russian marines, and, as is believed, the landing of the British.

The latest indications are that Tai Won Kun and the king are in control of affairs at the Korean capital. The king has been the nominal ruler, but the queen has heretofore been recognized as the real ruler. The influence of the king and Tai Won Kun is distinctly favorable to the Japanese.

At the Korean legation no word has been received from the disturbed capital. The officials are much exercised and do not doubt that the queen has met her death, although they are not ready to abandon hope. In case official confirmation is received, there will be such formal ceremony as is usual on the death of a sovereign. The legation will go into mourning, but there is not likely to be a funeral service, although this has been considered as a further mark of respect.

Viceroy Comes to Terms.

FOO-CHOO, Oct. 15.—As a result of the British consul's interview with him, the viceroy has agreed to execute 18 more accused of murdering missionaries immediately. The consuls and the taotai (magistrate) are empowered to pass sentence hereafter without reference to the viceroy. The concessions are due to the presence here of five British men-of-war.

THE SENSITIVE SULTAN

Doesn't Want the World to Think That He Acts Under Pressure.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 15.—The sultan accepts the reduced scheme of reforms in principle, but declines to promulgate it forthwith, because such acceptance would look like acting under pressure. If he persists in this policy, the storm will certainly gather again and will break with renewed violence.

Information has been received here that the town of Zabara, Arabia, in the Persian gulf, has been bombarded by two British warships and has been destroyed.

Foreign officials believe that it refers to the shelling of Arab dhows, off the town of Bahrein, in the middle of September.

M. Turpin, the inventor of the explosive melinite, has been summoned from Paris to Constantinople, his advice having been asked by the Turkish government in fortifying the Dardanelles. This announcement is confirmatory of a report that the porte had asked him to apply his new discovery to the defenses of the Dardanelles.

In the "Angel of Death," Inventor Turpin's terribly destructive war machine, the reported sale of which to the German government caused his fellow-Frenchmen to turn pale, the discoverer of picric acid has simply applied the principles of fireworks to deadly warfare. The hint came to him in watching the explosion of those giant sky-rockets which on bursting shoot out a host of smaller rockets, and which in turn become multiplied and scatter about with a deafening noise.

His machine solves the problem of the multiplication and subdivision of projectiles, and the solution consists in the employment of a particular explosive and in the creation of rockets which explode automatically.

"I have," said Turpin, speaking of his invention, "applied to the cannon the principle of the mitrailleuse, with absolutely automatic loading apparatus. The gunner is done away with, and the liquified gas or other explosive is at once my motor and my ammunition. It is only a question of machinery, but the trouble is with the supplies. To take my weapon into action I want an immense quantity of ammunition, and that is why I need a steamer or a train to carry all at once."

A SWELL YOUNG MAN.

Will Reside at a Reformatory For an Indefinite Period.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—In the superior criminal court yesterday afternoon Francis J. Bradley, aged 31 years, was sentenced to an indefinite term of imprisonment in the Massachusetts state reformatory. Swift and unexpected came the intelligence of the downfall of this erstwhile fashionable young man to his many friends of the swell set and his influential connections in the Back Bay. It was another repetition of the same old story—a fast life and heavy expenses upon the salary of a clerk.

The story of Bradley's downfall is a short one. The crime of which he was accused was theft from his employers of goods, the total value of which is about $1000. He was arrested on Sept. 17. He was employed previous to his arrest by C. F. Avery, a wool merchant, and he was looked upon as a thoroughly trustworthy and capable person.

Mr. Avery missed certain quantities of wool, and there being no entries on the books, suspicion at once pointed to young Bradley. His arrest followed, and when confronted with the evidence he broke down and confessed. At the same time he is understood to have implicated others in the affair, although nobody else has been drawn into it.

At the time of his arrest the affair was kept very quiet, and upon the reporters' books at police headquarters. But the affair came out when the grand jury, at its recent session, indicted him upon three counts.

Young Bradley has been for a long time a very swell young man, and moved in the very best Back Bay society, among which he had many friends and relatives. He is a young man of exceptionably fine appearance, and very pleasant in manner.

He possessed very little money in his own right, but had rich relatives. Moreover, he was engaged to be married to a very well-known young Back Bay society lady, who is very wealthy. The engagement of the young couple had not been formally announced, but it was well known to be a settled thing.

Bradley has been leading a rather fast life, and he had a reputation for Spending His Money Very Freely.

He dressed well, smoked good cigars, knew well the qualities of different brands of champagne, and he associated with swell club men. His name cannot be found upon the membership rolls of any of the fashionable clubs, but it is stated that for several months Bradley had been a member of a certain up-to-date organization, with quarters on Beacon street.

As a clerk in C. F. Avery's wool house, Bradley made a good salary, but it probably was not great enough to pay all his expenses. His employer does not know of any other thefts than those which were discovered, and says he does not think there were any.

Was Viral Poisoned?

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 15.—Although the coroner's jury has rendered a verdict that Robert A. Viral of Winterport came to his death by natural causes, it has not set at rest all the suspicions of poisoning which have been engendered in that town or put a stop to the talk about the case. It is said that there is a movement in Winterport to have the body exhumed and an examination made, despite the action of the coroner's jury.

Maine Mills In the Fold.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 15.—The Paper trust has effected a consolidation with the following Maine paper plants: Otis Falls, daily output of 70 tons of news paper; Jay, 40 tons; Rumford, 65 tons. New Hampshire—Glen, 90 tons; Winnepesaukee, 40 tons. Vermont—Olcott, 60 tons; Fall Mountain, 50 tons. A member of the trust states that the effect of consolidation would be to simply improve the conditions of manufacture.

Two Floors Settled.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Oct. 15.—Workmen digging a trench in the basement of the Church Hill school building yesterday undermined a brick pier supporting the floor above and it fell. The building shook, and the floor, from beneath which the support was gone, settled about a foot, the second floor also sagging to a corresponding depth. There was considerable excitement, but the pupils were all sent out in safety.

Penobscot Indians Stirred Up.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 15.—There is trouble among the Penobscot Indians at Indian Island, Oldtown, 12 miles from Bangor, the home of the largest and most important Indian tribe in Maine, over an order of the Maine Central railroad, just issued, that they must pay full fare when traveling on that road. For 60 years the Indians have been allowed to pay the same fare as children, the custom having its origin here.

THE ALLISON BOOM.

Hawkeye Republicans Appear Confident of Their Favorite's Nomination.

DES MOINES, Oct. 15.—Chairman H. G. McMillan of the Republican central committee has given out the following interview on Senator Allison's presidential candidacy: "Mr. Allison is certain to go into the convention with a strong following from the northwest, and possibly with the entire west. He will have the delegation from Iowa, Minnesota, South and North Dakota, Nebraska and New Mexico. There is every reason to believe that he will secure the Wisconsin delegation. In the east he has a powerful combination at work in his interest, and there is every assurance that he will have splendid support from the New York and Pennsylvania delegations."

"There is no favorite son business about the Allison boom this time. It is already full-fledged and able to stand by itself, is growing every day, and will be strictly in it when the convention is held."

Will Feed Employes at Cost.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—A big Newark (N. J.) thread manufacturing company is to start a cost-price restaurant for its employes. It is a fight against pie and doughnuts for the midday meal, and these indigestibles will be replaced by stews, soups and roast meats at cost, with good bread and butter and vegetables, all prepared upon the most scientific theories of hygienic cookery.

American Vessel Burned.

VALPARAISO, Oct. 15.—An American vessel, the Pardilla, Captain Carter, Bath Me., bound from Liverpool for San Francisco with a cargo of coal, was burned at sea, 400 miles off the south coast of Chili. The crew took refuge in the boats, one of which, that under the charge of the second mate, with seven on board, reached this port. The other boats have not yet been heard from.

Whirled Around Shafting.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 15.—Daniel McCabe, employed in the Arlington mills, was attempting to adjust a belt when he slipped, and his hand was caught in the pulley and his body carried over the shafting several times. His scalp was severely torn, the right side of his body badly lacerated and he sustained internal injuries. His condition is critical.

Time For a New One.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 15.—The city government last night passed an order instructing the city solicitor and two lawyers to draw up for the city a new charter to be presented to the next legislature for approval. The old charter, which was granted the city in 1830, has been amended and renewed so often that it is utterly unintelligible.

THE ISLAND CEMETERY.

To many the spring and early summer is the favorite time to visit this "city of the dead," when the tender grass is assuming its emerald hue and the notes of the robin and other early birds announce the advent of the vernal season; while others prefer the autumn in which to pay their visits to those who sleep "under the green of the grass and beneath the blue of the sky." Just now the bright fall flowers present a pleasant contrast to the dark shades of the evergreens, and the marble tablets and cenotaphs sparkle with added brilliancy during these bright, bracing October days.

Many of the marble obelisks were carved in sunny Italy, and will bear favorable comparison with those seen in Greenwood, Oak Hill or Mt. Auburn, while the ornamentation of many of the stones and slabs was executed in this city. The new receiving tomb is a miniature representation of the Redwood Library, while its perfect proportions and symmetry reflect great credit on a native architect. The Belmont Memorial Chapel, a really princely gift from its generous donor, is considered one of the most beautiful edifices of its kind seen in this or other countries. This exquisite chapel was designed by the late Mr. George C. Mason, and at its consecration a few years since he was present, an unassuming but interested spectator. The richly stained windows were made in Europe, and compare favorably in that and design with those of English cathedrals. The grounds, alleys and pathways are kept in excellent condition by their conscientious superintendent, Mr. McMahon, who gives personal attention to all desiring information respecting enclosures or graves.

It is to be hoped that in the near future an inexpensive lodge for the janitor, surmounted by a tower or cupola for a bell, may be erected. The custom of tolling the bell as the funeral procession enters the cemetery is religiously observed in most of the large and celebrated cemeteries in this country. N.

THE FALL RIVER & PROVIDENCE STEAMBOAT COMPANY.

Another deal is on foot to buy up the Fall River & Providence Steamboat Company's plant. Fall River and Providence capitalists are interested and negotiations have been made. The steamboat people are asking a stiff price for their property, and unless it is shaved somewhat the deal may not be consummated.

It is the intention of the prospective owners to make a general overturn in the property. The Richard Borden will be disposed of immediately and the Mount Hope will be commissioned to run daily excursions from Providence. A new boat of about 250 tons will be built to care for the regular traffic from Fall River to Providence, and also a new excursion steamer will be built to run from Fall River.

If the Fall River & Providence Steamboat Company and the syndicate cannot agree on a price, the latter will at once build a large "tramp" excursion boat to run from Fall River, Providence, Newport or wherever engagements can be secured. O. W. Hart of this city is conducting the negotiation for the syndicate.—[Fall River Herald.

FIREMEN'S MUSTER.

An old-time hand fire engine muster, to be held in Boston tomorrow, by the New England Firemen's Union will be one of the largest ever held, and with but two or three exceptions the largest since the introduction of steam fire engines just previous to the war. The largest ever held were at Worcester in 1859, and at Manchester in 1859, with fifty-three contesting engines at each. The entries for this muster, thirty-two in number, include River Point Company No. 1, of River Point; Fire King, No. 1, of Pawtuxet; Pawtucket Veterans, Central Falls Veterans and Narragansett, No. 2, of Riverside. The prizes will be, for first-class engines, $350, $200, $100 and $50; and for second-class engines, $150 and $75.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. William Lyon has returned from his vacation trip in the northern part of the state.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. Stacy Brown leave today for Pasadena, Cal., where they will spend the winter.

—Mr. Thomas Blacklock of this city has a contract for painting at Roger Williams Park, Providence.

—Mr. E. S. Blumenkranz has added to his well equipped pharmacy a Low art tile hot soda apparatus, for winter beverages.

—The latest additions to the Police Relief Association's fund are $15 from Mrs. Elizabeth Auchincloss and $25 from Mr. G. S. Scott.

—Ensign G. G. Mitchell of the Training Station, and Mrs. Mitchell, who were recently married at Braintree, Mass., have arrived here after their wedding tour.

—Assistant Inspector George F. Woodley will make the annual inspection of Charles E. Lawton Post, No. 5, Grand Army of the Republic, tomorrow evening.

—This morning the British embassy at the King cottage on Redwood street was closed, and Messrs. H. O. Bax-Ironsides and Ronald MacCleay left for Washington.

—W. F. Davis of the Newport Golf Club has gone to Shelburne Falls, Vt., where Dr. W. Seward Webb has his large country place, to lay out private golf links for Mr. Webb.

—Mrs. Samuel I. Carr, Mrs. T. W. Wood and Mr. Ara Hildreth have gone to Providence, to attend the annual convention of Rhode Island Division, Sons of Temperance.

—Representatives William P. Buffum and Godfrey Moffitt went to Providence this morning to accompany the governor and other state officials on their annual inspection of the state institutions at Cranston.

—Yesterday schooner Atwood of Foxboro, Nova Scotia, caught her anchor in the Jamestown telephone cable off Bishop rock, and let the anchor and chain go rather than cut the cable. The telephone company will secure the anchor and return it to the schooner when she returns.

—The streets of this city suffered comparatively little from the recent heavy rain. In neighboring cities streets were badly washed, and in some cases boats were used to get about. The park commission men had a busy time clearing leaves and broken branches from the parks, and the street department forces have a large job before them to remove all that the streets contain.

—Sunday thirty-eight apprentice boys were received at the Training Station from the Vermont at New York and ten from the Richmond at Philadelphia. These brought the total number of boys at the Station to 229. The Alliance is expected here about October 28 to fill out her complement of boys for the winter cruise. The enlistment recently has been very large and the boys secured of good grade.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Shall Non-Resident Pupils be Admitted?

The regular meeting of the school board was held last evening, the members present being Dr. C. F. Barker (chairman), Stephen P. Slocum, Robert S. Franklin, John H. Cozzens, W. P. Clarke, G. S. Perry, W. G. Ward, Overton G. Langley, A. B. Sayer and John G'lpin.

No reports were forthcoming from any of the standing committees, except that on buildings, which presented a report through Mr. Langley, to the effect that seventy-five pupils were enrolled at the new school at Grace Chapel, and that there were two other rooms not occupied. The Lenthal school had been materially relieved by the opening of Grace Chapel. Mr. Slocum said that no new furniture need be purchased, and that at least one hundred and thirty pupils could be accommodated.

Mr. Cozzens, from the industrial school committee, recommended that the mechanical drawing school be opened Tuesday evening, October 22, on the same lines and evenings as last year, and that the same fees be charged.

Superintendent Baker presented the following report:

Each year since 1891 has shown a considerable increase in attendance as compared with that of the preceding year, so that the total gain for the period of four years amounts to nearly four hundred pupils. This state of affairs has made it difficult to provide suitable accommodations for all the children. The number enrolled in the Rogers High School is now one hundred and ninety-five in all departments. The attendance in all the schools for 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895 is as follows, for the four weeks ending about the tenth of October: 1892, 1,786; 1893, 1,867; 1894, 2,060; 1895, 2,175.

The complete statistics of attendance for the four weeks ending October 11, 1895, are as follows: Total enrollment, 2,448; average number belonging, 2,293; average number attending, 2,175; percentage of attendance, 94.8.

Townsend Industrial School. Total number different persons enrolled—High School Industrial Course, 21; Grammar (Cooking, Sewing, Sloyd), 590; total, 620. The attendance has been as follows: Number enrolled—Cooking, 302; Sewing, 305; Sloyd (12 teachers and 276 boys), 290. Possible number of days' attendance—Cooking, 500; Sewing, 455; Sloyd, 932. Actual number of days' attendance—Cooking, 492; Sewing, 445; Sloyd, 896. Percentage of attendance—Cooking, 97.2; Sewing, 97.1; Sloyd, 96.1.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION.

The teachers' examination authorized by you began October 2 and continued three days. The candidates were Misses Annie J. Agnew and Celia W. Feeney, graduates of the Rogers High School, and Miss Margaret B. Simmons, a graduate of the Rogers High School and of Wellesley College. The subjects upon which the candidates were examined were mental and written arithmetic, reading, writing, spelling, United States history, grammar, physiology, elementary science, drawing and music. The three ladies passed the examination, having obtained the seventy per cent. required by rule, and have been assigned to duties in the practice school under the direction of Miss Freeman. It seems to me that the examination might be waived in case of a person holding the diploma of the Rogers High School.

ASSISTANT TEACHERS.

Sixteen schools have reached an enrollment of fifty or more pupils. The assistant teachers employed are as follows: Elizabeth G. Nuse, First Grammar school, Townsend Industrial School building; Mary L. Thurston, Second Grammar, Mill street; Grace B. Brazier, Third Grammar, Cranston avenue; Susanna S. Groff, First Intermediate, Mill street; Margaret Kiernan, First Intermediate, Lenthal; Hattie B. Sherman, First Intermediate, Elm street; Emma C. Fowler, Second Intermediate, Lenthal; Mary E. Westall, Second Intermediate, Elm street; Bessie S. Cozzens, First Primary, Mill street; Mary S. Brownell, First Primary, Cranston avenue; Jessie Buchanan, Second Primary, Lenthal; Blanche L. Peckham, Second Primary, Mill street; Emily W. Comstock, Second Primary, practice school; Marian C. Greene, Third Primary, Lenthal; Grace E. Milne, Third Primary, Willow street.

GRACE CHAPEL.

Grace Chapel has been leased by your committee on buildings, and is now ready for occupancy. Eighty-five chairs and desks have been placed in position. There is also room for a kindergarten, should your honorable body decide to organize one. The chapel will afford accommodations practically for three rooms, a kindergarten, a Third Primary school and a Second Primary school. In case a kindergarten is not organized, the Second Intermediate school could be relieved.

RHODE ISLAND INSTITUTE OF INSTRUCTION.

The Rhode Island Institute of Instruction will meet in Providence October 31, November 1 and 2, 1895. It has been customary for the school committee, at this time, to take action concerning the attendance of the teachers upon the sessions of the institute.

EARLY CLOSING.

By your authority the afternoon session of the public schools has usually begun at this season at 1:30 P. M. and closed at 3:30 P. M. for the primary and intermediate grades and at 3:45 P. M. for the grammar grades.

The superintendent's report included the following report from Truant Officer Topham:

I have the honor to submit the following as my report from September 3, 1895, to October 13, 1895, inclusive: Number of cases investigated (reported by teachers), 144; number found to be truants, 29; number out on account of illness and other causes, 115; number found not attending school, 70; number sent to public schools, 60; number sent to Catholic schools, 10.

I have had warrants issued and have arrested Matthew Coulfield and Dennis Kelly for habitual truancy; also Thomas Grady and Daniel Sullivan for not attending school. The first two were sentenced and committed to the Sockanosset School for two years; the other two were placed on probation.

I now recommend that John O'Neil, who is an habitual truant, be prosecuted according to law.

Mr. Perry, from the committee on teachers, recommended that a kindergarten be established at Grace Chapel, and that Miss Annie T. Gilpin of the Mill street kindergarten be placed in charge. The motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. Franklin moved that the teachers be given an opportunity to attend the Rhode Island Institute of Instruction, referred to in the superintendent's report, and that the schools be closed and the fare of the teachers paid one way. It was quite generally thought that the teachers and the pupils would both derive benefit therefrom. Mr. Cozzens suggested that all the schools be closed, and Mr. Sayer that all the teachers be required to attend. Mr. Slocum thought it would be a good idea if the members of the board also attended.

Mr. Cozzens moved an amendment, to the

HER BONNET'S JUST THE SWEETEST THING.

Her bonnet's just the sweetest thing,
It flouts the world as she goes by,
It's tied down by the sweetest string,
I'd like to be that string, but, "My!"
The bonnet might not be the thing
So sweet, if I should be the string.

Her bonnet's just the sweetest thing,
It tips a bit above her eye.
The birds—the birds begin to sing;
They want to sing as she goes by;
They think it's daybreak, and, "Oh my!"
It's just because she's passing by.

Her bonnet's just the sweetest thing,
It roofs in just the sweetest hair,
And eyes and mouth. The birds will sing;
They think it's spring when she is there.
It's just because she's passing by,
I want that bonnet, but, "Oh my!"

"White rose of roses!" Why be shy?
About the sweetest bonnet's string
The lads, the lads will sigh and sigh—
For God's white rose that makes it spring
And daybreak for the birds—and I
Just want that bonnet, but, "Oh, my!"

Mr. Callipers—Yes, my son.

PERHAPS THIS MAY HELP YOU.

"My food does me no good," you say. Then it does you harm. There is no halting place between these extremes. Digested food alone gives health and strength. Undigested food sours, or ferments, in the stomach and becomes a poison to the whole body. It causes headache, heart palpitation, liver and kidney trouble, distress after eating, pains in the chest and sides, and the tired, languid, heavy feeling we hear so much about. When the digestion goes wrong every function of the body goes wrong. Yes, and the mind, too. Men fail in business and die poor for no other reason than this,—they are weakened, dulled and stupefied by dyspepsia. The lives of a host of women are blighted in the same way. You may be one of this miserable multitude. The writer of these lines was one of your number a short time ago. I tried dozens of things to get cured; just as you have done, no doubt. The thing which at last succeeded with me may succeed with you. It is a discovery of those wise and good people—the Shakers, of Mt. Lebanon, N. Y.—called the Shaker Digestive Cordial. It is not a purgative, which at best gives only transient relief. It is in itself a digested food and also a corrector of the digestive function. You can eat and digest your food while taking this cordial. It helps you at once and soon makes the stomach vigorous and healthy. It is not like any other so-called dyspepsia cure. It is prepared by the Shakers principally from herbs cultivated by them. They do not ask us to spend a dollar for a bottle while we are in the dark as to its virtues. They take that risk themselves. Almost any druggist will sell you a trial bottle for ten cents, so you can see whether it is what they say—and adapted to your case. And isn't even the mere chance of a cure worth that much?

PIANO AND ORGAN REPAIRING.

A well equipped repair shop for pianos and organs has long been needed in Newport and we have decided to use some of the room over our warerooms for that purpose. Hereafter we will make a specialty of all kinds of piano work, from restringing and putting in new actions, regulating and polishing, down to tuning. If your piano is sounding something like a "tin pan" and is about worn out we can give it a new lease of life. A great many new pianos are now furnished with a soft stop or practice stop; we can put one as good as the best into any piano without affecting the action in the least and at a comparatively small cost. They save a great deal of wear and you can practice or play at any hour without annoying any one. If the varnish on your piano is in fairly good condition we can make it look as well as new. Our prices will be as low as the kind of work you want will allow. Estimates gladly given.

FLORISTS.

Herbaceous Flower Beds.

This is the season of the year for planting herbaceous flower beds such as are now all the fashion. Once planted these beds continue from year to year and afford a blossoming period nearly or quite twice as long as can be secured by the annuals so freely employed. Besides a herbaceous flower bed is constantly changing in appearance from spring to fall, thus avoiding the monotony of form and color which becomes so monotonous. And again it is a saving of money. COLONEL HIGGINSON AND THE BICYCLE.

The story having gone the rounds that T. W. Higginson is an expert bicycle rider, and though eighty years old takes a spin every morning with his little daughter behind, has called out a note from the colonel, in which he says: "If I trusted to my own knowledge, I should say that I am only seventy-one, and have never yet mounted that machine; but what are we that we should be wiser than the newspapers? The foundation of the whole story seems to be this, that some eight or nine years ago, when the young lady in question was still a small child, I often rode a tricycle with her behind me; and a very pretty photograph was made of us, which was long to be seen in Pach's window on Broadway. For aught I know it may still be there, giving a retrospective glimpse of a very happy period. At the same time I was president, for a year, of the Massachusetts Bicycle Club. For some years back the tricycle has been laid aside, as too heavy for the present tastes; the young lady now rides a bicycle of her own, like her contemporaries; and this with my hearty approval. I may yet follow her in that direction, though I have not done it, so far. The bicycle does not seem to me a fad, but a permanent step in human progress, and one perhaps destined to last until we take to flying. For literary men, it undoubtedly seems one of the very best forms of exercise, as well as a great convenience."

PEACHES IN NEW ENGLAND.

The Worcester Gazette says that the best peaches, size, color and flavor considered, which have found their way to the local market this season have been those grown by farmers in Harvard, Bolton, Westborough and other Worcester county towns. The crop of one Westborough grower amounted to one thousand baskets, nearly all of which he marketed in Worcester. The peaches were gathered from an orchard of four hundred trees, none of them above six years old. The lowest price for which this grower, S. A. Tyler, sold any of his peaches was $1 a basket, but only a few were disposed of at this figure. The great majority brought $2.50 a basket, and the gross receipts for the season's crop were nearly $2,000. The trees cover about four acres of land.

Similar reports come from various Massachusetts and Connecticut towns, and even from lower New Hampshire and Vermont, and our own Newport experiences are in the same line. Both last year and this the best peaches in size, color and flavor which have been sold in Newport were raised on Rhode Island, and the business was as profitable to the growers as in the case reported from Worcester. Two thousand dollars from four acres of land is a better return than from any other crop of which we have knowledge, and yet that is realized by North Kingstown and East Greenwich growers, as well as those mentioned by the Gazette. Nor is it an expensive crop to raise. Peach trees are cheap, they bear early, are productive, and as we have seen profitable. Good peaches always bring a good price, and those grown in New England are so superior to those brought to us from abroad as to give home growers a practical monopoly of the markets.

The time was when peaches were successfully grown in this section to meet all home demands. For some unexplained reason there came a period of failure, as was the case with most other fruits. As we cannot tell why the peach crop diminished, so we are not able to fully determine what changes have occurred to constitute the new conditions such as now exist. We all know that the same laws of nature apply to other crops as well as fruits, and that the wheat area is constantly changing, as well as that of cotton, corn and potatoes. Grapes now grow freely in some sections where formerly they were not known, while in others the old vineyards are dying. And experience shows that peach growing in New England is no longer a lost art. Every farmer with suitable upland should make a selection of some of the sorts best suited to the locality, and if not ready to launch out plant on a small scale. The trees purchased should be northern grown, because such have a more hardy constitution, and so far as known are free from the diseases which infest so many orchards of long continuance on the same ground. There will always be a demand for good peaches, and the more so from the fact that those sent us from the South are growing poorer every year. The ordinary California peach, while of good appearance, is in many cases an abomination, and wholly unfit for use.

POISONOUS PLANTS.

"Professor B. D. Halsted of New Jersey has written a valuable treatise on the poisonous plants of that state. Among others, he mentions red-root or paint-root (Gyrotheca capitata) which produces a peculiar effect on swine. It abounds at the South, and is singularly fatal to white-skinned hogs. Black-skinned hogs are said to possess immunity from the effects of paint-root, and Professor Halsted states that this claim is well founded. It is also claimed that, in Prussia, white horses are injured by eating milkweed, while dark ones are not. In Sicily, there are black sheep only—the white ones being killed off by a species of St. John's-wort. These curious facts explain why, in some parts of the South, only black-skinned hogs will thrive. Professor Halsted gives a list of sixty-seven poisonous plants that grow in New Jersey. One singular thing about it is that some persons may safely handle, or even eat, plants that would be very injurious to others. An instance is given of one man who is not only made sick by eating strawberries, but cannot with safety walk through a field of them."

We clip the above from the Rural New Yorker, which with some of the horticultural journals is giving some attention to the subject. Many persons will be surprised to learn that there are so many poisonous plants growing in our fields and gardens, but it should be understood that many of these are but slightly injurious. Some of them are cultivated in our greenhouses and gardens. Some time since a woman brought a potted plant to our office and asked for information as to its character. Her face was swollen and her hands in bad condition, and she was thoroughly alarmed. Some one had told her that morning that the plant which she brought was poisonous and that it was probably the cause of her trouble. It was a beautiful plant in full flower, a fine specimen of Primula Obconica, of the primrose family. The information which she had received was undoubtedly correct. She knew nothing of the plant, not even its name, having purchased it at a florist's shop. All the primroses are more or less poisonous, though many people are not unfavorably affected by them. The same is true of the poison ivy, Rhus toxicodendron, and what is known as the poison dogwood, both of which people have learned to shun. The same person is more easily affected at some times than others.

Boston, too, is having a surplus of typhoid and diphtheria. Dr. Rowe of the City Hospital says: "There can be no doubt but that fully 400 out of 500 cases of typhoid fever that occur at this time are caused directly by the drinking of impure water. A great many of the cases that are being treated here come from the country, where the water is not as a rule as pure as that furnished to city people."

Ex-Senator Allison's boom has been fairly launched and started out with rather subdued but flying colors. He is a careful man, and is not likely to slop over by saying or doing foolish things. Hon. John A. Logan is reported to have once said: "You could cover the floor of the Senate with eggs, and Allison is the only man who could walk over them without cracking a shell."

The Penobscot Indians are up in arms because the Boston & Maine railroad has decided to charge them the same fares as other people. It is an advanced step toward the civilization of the redskins, who are as likely to be spoiled by doing too much for them as too little. They should be counted as men and treated accordingly or they will never become such in reality.

Nobody appears to be excited over the pending Newport election, except those who have axes to grind for themselves or their friends. The nominations submitted are received with almost universal indifference and unconcern, and the vote will probably be correspondingly light. As a matter of fact, Newport seldom gets excited over an election, or anything else.

It is said that Governor Greenhalge is breaking down physically under the pressure of speech-making and campaign work. It does not look to an outsider as though the situation in Massachusetts is such as to call for such heroic action. The Republicans should be able to carry the state hands down.

One of the Rothschilds expresses the opinion that within five years the United States will be the most prosperous nation in the world. In this opinion he is undoubtedly right, and it is a great honor to the present administration to have checked the decline and started the country on its new and successful mission.

The workingmen are too busy in these days to turn out in large numbers to give Mr. Debs a "rousing reception" on his emergence from prison. The professionals and the tramps, however, are sure to be on hand whenever their presence is required, as they have nothing else to do.

Miss Flagler who shot and killed a colored boy while he was stealing apples, has been indicted by the grand jury and must stand trial. It is understood that she is broken down in health and spirits as a result of the affair and has become a wreck of her former self.

The two alleged prize fighters are men without a country. All civilized society disowns them and all others of their class. But on the other hand this fact makes them heroes to men of like low proclivities everywhere.

When will Americans cease to impose on the guileless Chinamen? It now turns out that the Boston woman who married Moy Fook had another husband, and poor Moy is disconsolate.

The national Congregational council, which held its session at Syracuse, has adjourned after a harmonious and successful session of nearly a week.

The Mississippi river is running low, having less water within its banks than before in many years.

Taken all in all, the Newport school committee can scarcely be called a happy family.

THE DUKE AS INTERVIEWED IN WASHINGTON.

"Washington is a surprisingly beautiful city," said the duke, "and its pavements are something wonderful. You must have a splendid municipal government here."

His tone of inquiry led the reporter to describe the form of government with which the national capital is blessed, and then Mr. Guest asked if the citizens would not like to exercise the right of franchise. The reporter explained the various conditions existing here, and both gentlemen expressed the opinion that it was evidently wiser to continue the present conditions.

"We are on our way to Kentucky," said the duke, "and I am sorry that we have not more time now to devote to thoroughly seeing Washington.

"We are going through the treasury this morning, and will then visit the Capitol. That is a magnificent building. I judge it is, without question, the finest building in the world. We are taking a trip to Kentucky to see the blue grass country and the horses, and the system followed there in the breeding of fine stock. On our return, however, we hope to stop here and have a better opportunity to see the city. I am very sorry that our time is so limited this morning, because I should have continued our talk. The unique and evidently highly successful system of municipal affairs that you have here interests us greatly. We leave at 2:25 this afternoon, and will probably be in Kentucky a week or ten days."

The duke was very affable and pleasant in his manner, as was Mr. Guest, and both of them would have struck any one as two eminently sensible young men.—[Washington Star.

THE LATEST DIVORCEE.

News of Amelie Rives Chanler's divorce caused no surprise among her friends in Washington. Miss Rives was always a woman of caprice, wayward, fickle. When in a normal mood she was one of the most loving and lovable of women, as she certainly was and still is among the most beautiful of her sex; but her capriciousness, petulance and childishness tried the patience of her family and her husband. Both as a girl and as a married woman Mrs. Chanler often visited Washington, and men and women who are connoisseurs in feminine beauty agree that no more fascinating woman than the Virginia authoress was ever seen in a Washington drawing room.

An incident of one of her visits to Washington may be taken as an indication of her peculiar character. At the request of her hostess she brought out of her trunk a batch of poems written in her girlhood, and read them to another guest of the house, an elderly man noted for his literary judgment. Miss Rives and the literary man were left alone, and in speaking of the incident afterward the literary man said: "I don't remember a word she read to me; all I can remember is the sweetness of her voice, the charm of her presence. She read poem after poem, in a low, impassioned voice, standing with her face near to mine, her eyes ablaze with poetic fervor. To me she seemed unearthly, angelic. I had no power to concentrate my mind upon her words. I could see nothing, think of nothing, but the petite, radiant, soul-stirred woman by my side."

This pretty story has a sequel, and it is in the sequel that the contrast of mood is found. An hour after Miss Rives had fascinated the elderly literary man and lulled him into an intellectual trance with the charm of her voice and person, the company sat down to dinner. There were six or eight at the table, and Miss Rives, though simply attired, was nevertheless a picture of youthful beauty. An unbidden guest soon appeared. The household kitten leaped to Miss Rives's lap, and was given a warm welcome. As the young poetess fondled the visitor, placed pussy's little black nose at the edge of her plate and fed the little mewing mouth with dainty morsels, more than one of the guests wished for a photograph of the pretty scene. Suddenly there came a reaction. Miss Rives began scolding the kitten for some unknown cause, and to the utter astonishment of hosts and guests alike the poetess raised the offending feline by the nape of its neck and gave it a vicious fling against the side of the room. For several moments Miss Rives had not a word to say. The well-bred hostess artfully kept conversation going without a pause, and in a short time the clouds left the face of the capricious Virginia girl, and radiant sunshine took their place.—[Chicago Times-Herald.

WOMEN AND MONEY.

The opinion has generally prevailed among men, or at least has been expressed for centuries, that women are densely and incurably ignorant about money. "He knows no more of money than a woman" is almost a proverb. The absurdest stories are perpetually told of woman's total incapacity to learn anything about money, and some of them are doubtless believed. What was current ages ago in regard to women is current now, and is almost as likely to gain credit as it was then. Men are apt to forget what extraordinary changes woman has undergone in this century—in the last half particularly. She may have been a financial simpleton in the remote past; she surely is not now, in most cases.

Where she is wholly uninformed on the subject her lack of information is commonly due to the man or men nearest her. He or they fail to give her any instruction, and then laugh at her defects, as is much their custom in other things. Man gets his knowledge of practical affairs from constant experience, and wonders that woman does not get hers without any experience. When he tries to teach her something about money—its value, its relations, its purchasing power—he finds her quick to learn, and his small exertion in her behalf amply recompensed. Who has known a woman that, having had any sort of financial education, has not profited by it? Often she shows a grasp and comprehension of monetary matters, as well as details of business, that are seldom shared by her husband or brother. She is, notwithstanding contrary belief, an intelligent economist when she comes to learn what economy means. It is frequently said by the other sex that she can make a dollar go as far as they can make two; nor is this by any means the language of compliment. Many and many a husband has discovered that his wife can buy more with a small amount of money than he can, and he is in the habit of giving it to her for that special purpose.—[Harper's Bazar.

Judge John L. Thomas, assistant attorney general for the Postoffice Department, has submitted to the Postmaster General a report of the operations of his office for the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1895. During the year there were 518 fraud orders issued, 55 of which were against lottery companies operated by so-called "bond investment" companies, 12 against avowed lottery companies, and 21 against miscellaneous games of chance. The remainder were various schemes to defraud.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15, 8 A. M.—Forecast till 8 P. M. Wednesday for Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.—Cloudy and threatening weather, probably followed by rain on the southern coast Wednesday afternoon; northeasterly winds.

FOR BOSTON AND VICINITY.

BOSTON, Oct. 15, 8 A. M.—Local forecast for Boston and vicinity until Wednesday night—Generally cloudy, but probably without rain; stationary temperature; variable winds.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS.

Light rain is reported this morning around the great lakes, caused by a disturbance of very slight energy, central north of the Dakotas and Minnesota. A rainstorm is also in progress on the south Atlantic coast, and cloudy, threatening conditions extend northward to Nova Scotia. There is strong evidence of a tropical storm in the Gulf of Mexico, but it is too early to say what may be expected from it. West of the Mississippi river generally clear weather is the rule. The temperature has been lowered considerably over the Eastern states, and ranges this morning between 35 and 50 degrees. A slight rise is noted in the Northwest, but no great change is anticipated here yet. Winds are mostly from north to east quarters on the Atlantic coast.

SPECIAL WIRE TO THE NEWS.

RHODE ISLAND DEMOCRATS.

Special Meeting of the State Central Committee.

[Special Despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, October 15.—A special meeting of the Democratic state central committee was held in this city today, to arrange for registration and for an increase in the registry lists throughout the state. Reports from Providence, Pawtucket, Woonsocket and Newport were read, and showed Democratic prospects to be bright.

Frank L. Hanley of Johnston was endorsed for the postoffice at Olneyville, the term of the present incumbent expiring in December.

The Warwick delegation expressed surprise at the delay in filling the postoffice in that town. Chairman Owens said that according to promises made to him the office should have been filled long ago.

Chairman Owen made the surprising announcement that he had been unable to find any Democrat willing to take the postoffice at Diamond Hill and was obliged to endorse the application of a Republican.

After issuing instructions to push registration, the committee adjourned.

THE OLD CUP COMMITTEE.

Challenger Rose Formally Notified of its Re-appointment.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The America's cup committee remained in session at the New York Yacht Club house until after midnight last night. They drew up a letter to Mr. Charles Day Rose of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, formally notifying him of their appointment, giving him the names of the committee, and stating that full power had been given them by the club to confer with him and make arrangements and conditions for the races. The letter, which was mailed today, confirms the cablegrams sent by Secretary Oddie of the New York club to Mr. Rose and Secretary Thelusson of the Royal Victoria club last night. When a reply is received from Mr. Rose the committee will hold another meeting and some of the details for the races and the probable dates will be settled.

The re-appointment of the committee which had charge of the Defender-Valkyrie races is considered a strong endorsement of their course throughout the recent races. Had other men been named on the committee appointed last night, it would have given the British critics an opportunity to say that the club failed to endorse the old committee, and that Lord Dunraven was right in withdrawing from the races.

There is as yet little talk of building a new boat to meet Mr. Rose's Distant Shore. Yachtsmen here say that the Defender is a better boat than the Englishmen can build in three years, and that the cup is safe if left to her.

BURNED AT SEA.

Part of the Crew of a British Ship Not Yet Heard From.

VALPARAISO, Oct. 15.—British ship Parthia, Captain Carter, from Liverpool June 25 for San Francisco, was burned at sea October 1. Part of the crew have arrived here, but the captain and first officer, with nineteen of the crew, who left the ship in open boats at the same time, have not been heard from since.

ONE MAY HAVE BEEN THE QUEEN.

Three Women Murdered in the Attack on the Palace at Seoul.

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 15.—An imperial ordinance has been issued, prohibiting Japanese subjects from visiting Corea without special permission. Advices from Seoul state that in the midst of the confusion of the recent anti-reform attack upon the palace a number of the rioters forcibly entered a bedroom and murdered three women whom they found there. One of them is supposed to have been the queen.

Portugal Making Terms with Mutineers in Goa.

BOMBAY, Oct. 15.—The Portuguese officials in Goa, finding themselves unable to resist successfully the strength of the insurgents, have offered the mutineers unconditional amnesty and immunity from any future penalty for their recent revolt, on condition that they disarm tomorrow.

Inspection of the State Institutions.

[Special Despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 15.—The governor and members of the legislature made their annual visit and inspection of the state institutions at Cranston today. The party visited the several departments in order, under the guidance of their several heads, and interesting exercises were held at the schools for boys and for girls. At noon luncheon was served in Superintendent Eastman's office, and in the afternoon there was a dress parade by the batalion of the boys' school. The party will remain at the institutions until 6 o'clock.

Death of General Keyes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—A cablegram was received from Nice, France, yesterday, announcing the death there of General Erasmus D. Keyes, who was a volunteer brigadier general in the civil war. He was born in Brimfield, Mass., May 29, 1810.

Cleveland Almost Home Again.

NEW YORKERS DEFEAT THE BUFFALO POLO PLAYERS.

The polo tournament at Buffalo terminated yesterday with a special match between teams from New York and Buffalo, made up of men who have played for at least ten years. It will be remembered that the Buffalo team defeated the New Yorkers several years ago, and since then they have not played, so that the game of yesterday was a sort of return match for the one played in this city long ago. The New Yorkers, with their handicaps, were John Cowdin, 10 goals; J. D. Cheever, 4; E. C. Potter, 7; total, 21. The Buffalo men were Seward Cary, 3; Charles Cary, 5; Bert Rumsey, 6; total, 14. The Buffalo team had thus an allowance of seven goals when the play started. The match was to be in periods of fifteen minutes each, but the first play was twenty minutes. In the first period Potter scored four goals, and Cheever, S. Carey and Rumsey one each. In the second Seward Carey made two, C. Cary and Cowdin one each and Cheever three goals in the latter part of the period. In the final period there was some very fast and exciting work. S. Cary scored twice for Buffalo, and Rumsey by mistake made a goal for New York. The latter won out, 15 to 14. Three handsome cups were taken by the winners.

Take the Wickford Line for New York and avoid the rush on the sound steamers. Leave Commercial wharf, opposite Postoffice, 7:10, 10 A. M.; 1:20, 4:20 7:00, 11:15 P. M.

FUNERAL OF BENJAMIN FINCH.

The funeral of the late Hon. Benjamin Finch took place at noon today from his late residence on School street, and the services, which were conducted by Rev. Hamilton Schuyler of Trinity Church, assisted by Rev. E. H. Porter of Emmanuel Church, were attended by a large number of the leading citizens of Newport and representatives of the various bodies with which the deceased had been connected. The bearers were Messrs. Archibald B. Sayer and William D. Sayer, grandsons of the deceased; Henry H. Tilley, John B. Tilley, George A. Tilley and Fred M. Hammett, nephews, and Benjamin F. Bliss and Herbert Bliss, grand-nephews. The interment was in the Island Cemetery.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Pilot boat E. E. Barrett, No. 8, arrived this morning.

—Ensign H. J. Ziegemeier has been ordered to the Torpedo Station.

—Lieutenant E. D. Bostwick has been detached from the Alliance and ordered to the Lancaster.

—The pleasant weather today sent all the coasters, tugs and fishermen outside, and gave the harbor a very deserted appearance.

—Last evening the department officers made their annual inspection of Charles E. Lawton Corps, No. 3, Women's Relief Corps, in Grand Army hall. A social time was enjoyed after the inspection.

—Miss Othelie Fladvad, after a visit of several months to her sister, Mrs. Charles M. Cottrell, will sail tomorrow from New York for her home in Christiana, Norway, on steamship St. Louis of the American line.

—The remains of the late Amelia DeJongh, widow of Charles F. DeJongh, were brought here from Wickford for burial this afternoon. Mrs. DeJongh was the daughter of the late Levi Tower, and with her husband lived here a score or more years ago, owning and occupying the house now owned by Mr. Charles G. Muenchinger on the corner of Bellevue avenue and Mill street. The burial was at the Island Cemetery, Rev. E. H. Porter reading the committal service.

—Commander Edwin White, Commander Joshua Bishop, Commander Nicoll Ludlow, Lieutenant C. H. Harlow and Commander T. A. Lyons have been detached from the War College, ordered home and placed on waiting orders. Captain Louis Kempff has been detached from the War College and ordered as a member of the naval examining and retiring boards. Ensign Glennie Tarbox has been detached from the War College and ordered to duty in the coast survey.

THE NEW POLO FIELD.

While on the subject of horses, it is pleasant to record that the new polo grounds at Newport have been finished and await acceptance at the hands of the officers of the club. This means a great deal, as all will agree who recall the disadvantages with which the sport has labored at the old grounds, "Deadhead Hill" thus becomes a thing of the past, and the thrifty Newporters will either have to pay or stay away. This in itself is nothing of a gain—indeed, it is something of a loss in a certain sense, since the popularization of the sport would be a distinct gain to the community—but it points toward increased receipts, for many who are willing and able to pay preferred the shaded hill to the hot and very uncomfortable stand within the gates.

It was by no means an easy job to put a field in order for the game at the spot selected, on account of the roughness and unevenness of the ground; but the feat has been accomplished with such success, experts report, that the result is as fine a polo ground as any in the country.

During the winter work on the interior of the Golf Club will be pushed to completion against next season. I hear that the officers have decided that no more private balls shall be given there. The several entertainments of this kind that took place during the past summer necessitated not only the surrender of the house on the evenings of the events, but for a day before and a day afterward in order that the decorators might perform their duties. Many members who were not bidden to these festivities and were therefore in no way interested in the same protested against such a monopolization of facilities in the enjoyment of which they felt themselves entitled to share. This action will result in preserving for the Casino a class of patronage that the other organization bade fair to divert to itself. Happily, there is business enough at Newport for both institutions, and a wise policy will encourage neither at the expense of the other.

It is pleasant to record that the new clubhouse has proven thoroughly satisfactory in every way. It was not intended to carry the architects' plans to completion during the first year, as the laying out of the grounds a very expensive job, was deemed a matter of prime necessity. Another autumn will doubtless see the work of construction resumed in accordance with the attractive designs of Mr. Warren, who deserves great praise for the excellence of what has been done.—[New York Mail and Express.

SCHOOL COMMITTE.

effect that the assistants be required to attend the institute, receiving their usual pay. The motion, as amended, prevailed.

On motion of Mr. Gilpin the recommendations of the truant officer were approved, to be carried out under the rule.

It was voted, on motion of Mr. Cozzens, that the teachers' examinations, so far as graduates of the Rogers High School are concerned, be waived, with an amendment by Mr. Perry that they attend the practice school for six months.

Mr. Clarke, from the committee on evening schools, recommended that the evening schools be opened October 21, for a term of twenty weeks, provided the attendance shall warrant. He also recommended that the following teachers be elected, in the order given, to be employed only when a given number of pupils are present: Caroline M. Vose, Maria J. Gale, Jeannette H. Swasey, Annie H. Thurston, Alice B. Ward, Mary L. Brayton, Aphie B. Wilson, Maud W. Simpson, Lelia M. Thurston, Lillian M. Boyle, Lillian J. Truger, Bertha L. Eddy, Lillian Barker. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Franklin presented a communication from Mrs. Gorton, who desired that a girl in her family, a resident of Block Island, be allowed to attend school without paying the regular tuition fee for non-resident pupils. Mr. Franklin said that the girl's mother is dead, that Mrs. Gorton does not propose to adopt the child, and that her father is living and a resident of Block Island. He moved that the girl be admitted to the schools.

Mr. Cozzens said that it would be a violation of the law, and that the question had repeatedly been up before the board for discussion. Well known Newport tax payers, even, who for a time were residing elsewhere, had asked for the free admission of their children, and had been refused. The child's home or domicile is where its parents reside.

Mr. Gilpin asked for a reading of the school rules and of the state law governing the matter, and said that the duty of the members was clear, however much they might desire to admit the child. He had told her friends that he thought the school rule was considered binding. Messrs. Franklin, Slocum and Langley spoke earnestly in favor of admitting the girl, while Messrs. Perry, Clarke and Sayer were in favor of carrying out the rule. Mr. Langley and Mr. Perry thought it would be a good idea to lay the matter on the table in order to make an investigation, and Mr. Perry made a motion to this effect.

Mr. Gilpin said that the child is entitled to school privileges at the home of her father, and that it would be establishing a dangerous precedent. The schools are already crowded and the people are clamoring for more schoolhouses. He begged Mr. Perry to withdraw his motion and to have the question settled. This Mr. Perry did. Mr. Slocum said the rule is wrong, and Mr. Clarke argued that if it is wrong it should be repealed rather than broken. Mr. Sayer said that scores of non-residents are paying tuition fees, and it would not be right or just to make any discrimination. He was willing to pay personally from his own pocket one year's fees for the child, and Mr. Gilpin offered to pay for two more years. Mr. Slocum did not approve of this plan and said that the law of the state compels children to attend school and that failure to do so would lead to their arrest by the truant officer.

Mr. Franklin demanded and Mr. Gilpin seconded a roll-call on the question of Mr. Franklin's original motion, which was lost by the following vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Franklin, Slocum, Langley, 3.
Nocs—Messrs. Barker, Cozzens, Clarke, Ward, Perry, Sayer, Gilpin, 7.

No action was taken upon the application of two other non-residents, one an Indian woman, beyond school age.

Mr. D. E. Campbell was elected principal of the evening school at the industrial building, at a salary of $3 per night four nights a week, and it was voted that an assistant be employed if necessary, at a salary of $2.50.

Mr. Gilpin presented a letter from J. M Hodgson of New York and Newport, offering a site for the proposed new schoolhouse on Brenton avenue. The Nugent estate was also offered. Both communications were received and placed on file.

The recommendation of the superintendent regarding the fall and winter school hours was adopted, the arrangement to go into effect at the usual time.

The board adjourned after being in session nearly two hours.

MISS VANDERBILT'S RETORT.

An amusing story about Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt is told by one of her school friends. It happened several years ago, when Miss Vanderbilt was in short dresses, and the desirability of standing well with prominent people had not yet crossed the minds of her schoolmates. The dispute started over the monthly report book. Miss Vanderbilt's marks were higher than any of the other children's in the group.

"I don't care," exclaimed one of them, "the teachers favor you 'cause you're rich, but my father says your grandfather used to sell matches. There—didn't he?"

And Miss Vanderbilt, who even then was possessed of the rare dignity which is so attractive in her now, held up her curly head a trifle higher and answered quietly: "I really don't know. But if he did I'm sure they were good matches."

A MATCH GAME OF GOLF.

Winthrop Rutherford of the Meadowbrook Hunt Club and Charles S. Sands of the St. Andrew's Golf Club have been matched to play a thirty-six-hole game of golf Saturday, the winner to receive $1,000 in plate, the event to be decided on either the St. Andrew's or Meadowbrook links, the choice to be decided by the toss of a coin. The high value of the trophy is accounted for by a strong rivalry between the men, based on the outcome of the amateur championships at Newport and the games at Staatsburg last Friday, which has spread and increased until nearly all the golfers in clubdom are now supporters of either man. From talk the clubmen passed to posting wagers, and the rich trophy was offered as an inducement to bring the men together. It promises to be the most sporting golf match yet held in this country.

In the Staatsburg Golf Club tournament Charles Sands defeated Winthrop Rutherford, and in the finals won from Archibald Rogers, by 1 up. At Newport Sands was not pitted against Rutherford, but he won his way to the finals by defeating M. J. Henry, Essex County Club, by 4 up; Rev. Dr. Rainsford, St. Andrew's, by 4 up, and F. I. Amory, Brookline Country Club, by 3 up and 2 to play. In the finals he fell an easy victim to Charles B. MacDonald, Chicago Golf Club; but two at least of the men he had defeated in the earlier rounds seem to be close to Rutherford's form. The latter holds the amateur record for the Newport course, 87 strokes, and after winning cleverly from L. B. Stoddart, by 1 up in 19 holes, lost in the semi-finals to MacDonald. It is hard to analyze the Newport play, as the two did not meet, but although Sands did not defeat such a fine golfer as Stoddart, his form was fully as good as Rutherford's play. The Staatsburg tournament bears out this opinion. It should consequently be a nip and tuck match between them.—[New York Sun.

A NEW YACHT RACING CLASS.

Ex-Commodore E. D. Morgan's recent visit to the Herreshoff works at Bristol, which caused so much talk at the time, it was learned yesterday was not in the interest of the Defender syndicate or any new cup defender or steam yacht, as was conjectured, but to look over and discuss with Nat Herreshoff the plans of a new thirty-foot racing class. These new boats will not be built to any of the existing racing length limits, but will be a special class by themselves.

While it was first intended to build a fin-keel open boat of about twenty-seven feet water-line length, it has now been decided to raise the water-line length to thirty feet. They will have a large cockpit, but instead of being open boats they will be fitted with a small trunk cabin.

The boats will all be built from one model and from the same mould, like the Herreshoff 21-footers, so no one will have a chance to come in late and outbuild the others. Among the yachtsmen who are talking of building are E. D. Morgan, Herman Duryea, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., Royal Phelps Carroll, and W. Butler Duncan, Jr.—[New York Sun.

POLICE NOTES.

Detective Richards is in Providence.

Officer Easton has returned from his furlough.

Officer Watson has been granted a ten days' leave of absence.

John Kelly of battery B, of Fort Adams, has been fined $2 and costs for drunkenness.

Officer Crane has returned from sick leave.

Officer Simpson quelled a disturbance on West Broadway at 12:30 o'clock last night.

The police report hearing a pistol shot near "Marble House," last night, but failed to learn who caused the commotion.

The last naval appropriation bill placed only $25,000 at the disposal of the Navy Department for the naval militia, and this amount, the authorities say, is insufficient. It is highly probable that Secretary Herbert will recommend that at least $50,000 be appropriated. With this amount the authorities will be able to supply the naval militia in the different states with guns for the vessels that have been placed at their disposal and other things that are essential for their instruction. Lieutenant A. P. Niblack has made a compilation of the laws relating to the naval militia in the several states in which naval battalions are located. As there are hardly any two statutes alike, Lieutenant Niblack's report will suggest that the secretary recommend to the governors of the different states that they take some action to secure a uniform law for the naval militia. Such a law will be outlined by the department.

POLITICS IN UTAH.

Mormon Church Officials Deny the Charge of Interference.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 15.—Wilford Woodruff, president of the Mormon church, has made a written statement concerning the recent priesthood meeting. There was not, according to his recollection, one word said about Democrats, Republicans or politics. President Woodruff says: "I consider it the right of every man, woman and child on earth to enjoy their religion, let that religion be what it may, for that is between themselves and their creator. So I say with regard to politics. Every man has a right to enjoy his political belief unmolested. There is not a Democrat in Utah who can truthfully say that I ever asked him to vote a Republican ticket. Neither can any Republican say I ever asked him to vote a Democratic ticket. A part of my family are Republicans and part are Democrats."

The Democratic state committee was in session yesterday all day and last evening, and announced that but one feeling prevailed in regard to taking action on the alleged interference of the high officials of the Mormon church in political affairs, and that was that heroic measures must be taken and the question of the political liberties of the people of Utah, irrespective of party, settled once and for all. It was decided to recall the state convention at an early date, to consider the proposition of withdrawing the Democratic ticket and substituting therefor an anti-statehood ticket, or taking some other decisive step in regard to church interference in politics.

Joseph F. Smith, one of President Woodruff's chief counsellors, says: "My remarks made at the priesthood meeting are not susceptible of the meaning which individuals in both political parties have placed on them. I was speaking upon church discipline, not upon politics at all." The feeling is now more bitter than at any time since the discussion commenced.

SIR CHARLES DILKE OPTIMISTIC.

Believes the Franco-Russian Alliances Lessens the Risk of War.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Chronicle publishes an interview with Sir Charles Dilke, M. P., on the European situation. Sir Charles declares that he is an optimist as regards peace. He believes that the Franco-Russian alliance has diminished the risks of a general war. He accuses France of a distinct breach of faith in Siam, but he admits that when the British talk of breaches of faith the French smile an Egyptian smile. He admitted that Lord Rosebery had taken a very strong line, which Lord Salisbury maintains, and he hopes the question will finally be settled by negotiation.

Bad Freight Wreck in Pennsylvania.

BRADFORD, Penn., Oct. 15.—A bad wreck occurred on the Buffalo division of the Western New York & Pennsylvania railroad, at Eldred, Penn., at 1 o'clock this morning. As a north-bound freight was passing a switch the locomotive left the rails, followed by eleven loaded cars. Fireman Jesse Baxter of Buffalo was caught under the train and crushed to death, and Engineer Brockway and Brakeman Hagmire were caught under the wrecking and seriously injured.

Papal Objection to King Carlos Visiting King Humbert.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Chronicle says that the British squadron now at the island of Lemnos, convenient to the Dardanelles, will be augmented by twin-screw battleship Camperdown, which is now at Malta.

COTTON.

A study of the crop figures will show that seven years of successively increasing crops from 1885-6 to 1891-2 was unprecedented in the history of trade. It is doubtful if any leading crop raised can show such an unbroken increase for seven years. Jumping from 5,700,000 bales in 1885-6, there was practically no halting until 1891-2, when the yield was 9,035,000 bales—a gain of 3,300,000 bales, or nearly sixty per cent. advance in seven years.

In nineteen years cotton has brought into the South over $5,000,000,000—a sum so vast that the profits out of it ought to have been enough to greatly enrich that section. Unfortunately, however, the system necessitated by the conditions prevailing immediately after the war, of raising cotton only and buying provisions and grain in the West, left at home but little if any surplus money out of the cotton crop. The West and North drained that section of several hundred million dollars every year, because it depended upon them for all of its manufactured goods, as well as for the bulk of its food stuffs. Hence of the enormous amount received from cotton very little remained in the South. The increase in the diversification of farm products, the raising of home supplies, the development of trucking and the building of factories are all uniting to keep at home the money which formerly went north and west. Whether the cotton raiser himself be getting the full benefit of this or not, the South at large is necessarily doing so. The increase in the attention given to grain cultivation is illustrated by the fact that the South's grain crop of 1894 was 611,000,000 bushels, valued at $392,000,000, or more than the value of its entire cotton crop, and the yield for 1895 will probably exceed these figures by at least 50,000,000 bushels.

The importance of cotton in our foreign trade relations can be realized from the simple statement that since 1875 our exports of this staple have aggregated in value $4,000,000,000, while the total exports of wheat and flour combined for the same period have been about $2,600,000,000, showing a difference of $1,400,000,000, or over fifty per cent., in favor of cotton. Moreover, during the same period we have exported about $300,000,000 of manufactured cotton goods, making the total value really $4,300,000,000. Compared with the exports of wheat, flour and corn combined—the value of which since 1875 has been about $3,200,000,000—there is a difference in favor of cotton of $1,000,000,000. Going back to 1820 it is found that the total value of flour and wheat exported for the last seventy four years is, in round figures, $4,000,000,000, or $200,000,000 less than the value of the cotton exported during the last nineteen years.—[Harper's Weekly.

IMMIGRANTS FROM ITALY.

Industrious and Anxious to Learn Make Good Citizens.

Of the half million Italians that are in the United States, about 100,000 live in this city, and including those who live in Brooklyn, Jersey City and the other suburbs the total number in this vicinity is estimated at about 160,000.

The greater portion of these persons have come to this city within the past eight or ten years. The majority of them are from the south of Italy and from Sicily, but of late large numbers have been coming from Genoa and the Riviera. Many of the Italians who came from Northern Italy are now in Colorado, Michigan, Minnesota, California, and along the Pacific slope generally, where they are to a great extent engaged in fruit raising.

The Italian consul general in this city, in a recent report to his government, said that in general the Central and Western states get the better element of the Italian immigrants. The Southerners, most of them laborers, have remained in the East, where they have found work on roads and buildings.

The principal quarter of the Italians is about Mulberry street, Five Points, Mott street and Roosevelt street, but there is a large colony known as Little Italy, about One Hundred and Tenth street and Second avenue. Again others, many of whom are of the better class, have scattered all over the city.

In former years much of the Italian population in this city was a floating one. Workmen flocked in for the winter months, when work for them was more plentiful, and in the summer they either went into the interior to work on railroads, or took passage for Italy, where they could live much cheaper during warm weather than they could here. Of late years, however, the population has become much more settled, and an Italian banker who deals largely in steamship passenger tickets told the editor of the Italian newspaper, Il Progresso, that during the last two years he had sold hardly any tickets for outgoing passages. It is thought that perhaps the action of the trades unions in getting a law passed that only citizens of the United States should be employed on public works may have induced many Italians to become bona fide residents and to become naturalized.

The general tone of the Italians in New York has grown higher as they have increased in numbers. Most of their fights and deeds of violence have been confined among themselves, and have been due generally to old feuds, or to quarrels over the gambling table. To their credit it must be said that Italian burglars and sneak thieves and beggars are hardly known. Counterfeiting, however, has been, and is, a favorite pursuit with certain classes among them, but it is the boast of their leaders that there are fewer Italian convicts in American prisons than of any other nationality. They admit, however, that among the immigrants a number of restless political spirits came, who had found it convenient for their safety to leave their native land. Among these are anarchists, and probably members of secret societies, who, under the guise of patriotism, try to live upon their hardworking countrymen by political propaganda or intimidation. Such men, it is said, are passing away, like the padrones who formerly brought hundreds of children, and sent them out into the streets to beg, and when the societies put a stop to that, supplied contractors and the street cleaning department with gangs of laborers, whom they underpaid and robbed. The padrone system, it is claimed, has been almost entirely broken up through the efforts of Professor Oldrini, the agent of the Italian government at Ellis island, who advises the newly arrived Italian immigrants and finds work for as many of them as he can.

The knowledge of the country gained by many of the Italians, and their learning to speak some English, has also materially helped to deliver them from the clutches of the padrones. A good many men and women have learned to work on the sewing machines, and find steady work as tailors for the large clothing manufacturing firms in this city. They have been charged with underbidding the poorly paid Jewish tailors, who have recently had their great strikes, but they deny that they work for lower wages. A large clothing manufacturer told the editor of Il Progresso that he prefers his Italian to his Jewish hands, because the latter are always wanting to strike about something or other, while the Italians work along steadily and do not complain. There are also a good many clothing contractors and a number of tailors for ladies' dresses among them.

Italian fruit dealers are very numerous. It is said there are as many as ten thousand in the city. It is claimed that it is mainly due to the efforts of the Italians that fruit eating has become quite universal here, and that, consequently, fruit culture has attained such enormous proportions and puts millions of dollars annually into the pockets of the fruit growers. To a certain extent this is true, for the Italians have put up fruit stands at every available street corner where there is a chance of selling their wares, and have learned to arrange their fruits so tastefully as to tempt the passer-by.

The Italian barber has succeeded in thrusting himself into public notice, and the numerous barbers of other nationalities who settled here before he did have to take him into account, for he shaves cheaper. Where formerly fifteen cents was charged for a shave, he asks only ten cents, and in poor localities a nickel, and where a quarter was charged for cutting hair, he is satisfied with fifteen cents. Some of the union barbers years ago complained to the Central Labor Union that the non union Italian barbers were killing the trade, and asked that a boycott be imposed on all five-cent barber shops, but nothing was done.

There are a good many stone masons among the Italians, but their work is generally confined to the part of the building below the level of the street. There are also bricklayers, shoemakers, and other handicraftsmen.

Scores of Italian physicians have a good practice among their countrymen, and all are said to be making plenty of money. One physician, who had an office in Grand street, was said to have saved $45,000 in six or seven years, and then retired because his health gave out.

Of so called bankers, there are several in the Italian colony. Their business consists mainly in selling drafts for small sums to their countrymen, who send money to their relatives in Italy, or to small importers, and in the sale of passage tickets.

The Italian is working himself into politics, too, and will probably have to be counted with as a factor before long. In one of the recent Italian consular reports the consul remarks that Americans formerly complained that Italians were not interested in the welfare of this country, inasmuch as they did not become citizens, and only stayed here long enough to accumulate some money, and then returned home; but now, however, says the report, the Italians take a cautious and prudent, but very active, interest in the politics of the country. About twenty years ago there were practically no Italian voters. Ten years later several began to vote, but for reasons that had better not be mentioned. It was then said that an Italian's vote was worth $2. At that time no Italian political meetings were held, where the people could be enlightened. Then efforts were made to unite the various Italian societies in one political organization, to support candidates who promised to favor the interests of Italian residents in this country. This was done in imitation of the Irish and German residents. They soon learned that no other country in the world gives the immigrant such opportunities as does the United States; that there is complete security of life and property for all without distinction of race or nationality; that therefore this country is preferable to all others, and that Italians need no special pleaders.

It is claimed that the Italians of New York are forgetting their old political differences, and that whatever quarrels occur among them arise from personal differences. As churchgoers, many of the men are very negligent, and many still seem to regard the pope as a temporal sovereign, opposed to the unification of Italy, and in favor of its disruption.—[New York Times.

BIRDS AND UPWARD AIR CURRENTS.

The soaring of a bird may be compared with a boy sliding downhill on a sled. If a hill is, say, one hundred feet high, and the sides slope off in a horizontal direction two thousand feet from the summit, and if the snow is smooth, a boy can mount a sled and advance two thousand feet while he is falling, as relates to the earth, one hundred feet; that is, the sled with the boy on it in falling through a distance of one foot develops sufficient power to drive the sled forward twenty feet, but when the boy is at the bottom of the hill and can develop no more power by falling, the sled soon comes to a state of rest. Suppose now that a hill could be made in such a manner that it would constantly rise at such a velocity that the sled would never reach the bottom of the hill, the boy would then be able to slide forever, and this is exactly what occurs with a bird. A bird places its wings in such a position that, as it falls in the air say one foot, it moves forward through the air twenty feet, that is, it slides along on the surface of the air underneath its wings in the same manner that the boy slides down the hill. Suppose now that the velocity of the bird should be about thirty miles an hour, this would account for the whole phenomenon of soaring on an upward current of only one and one-half miles an hour. With an upward current of two miles an hour the bird would rise, as relates to the earth, one half a mile an hour while actually falling through the air at the rate of one and one half miles an hour.

There is no doubt that a bird, by some very delicate sense of feeling and touch, is able to ascertain whether it is falling or rising in the air. It is well known that fish have this power. If a surface fish sinks too deeply in the water the compression of its swim bladder produces a sensation or impression upon its brain, which causes the fish to change its course, and relieves the pressure by coming nearer to the surface, and a similar thing is true of the deep sea fish. If they approach the surface their swim bladder becomes enormously distended, and no doubt produces a sensation which the fish know is relieved by again sinking into very deep water. If these fish are caught and drawn to the surface, the distention of the swim bladder becomes so great that it displaces all the other organs of the body. In all probability the numerous air cells which are found in the body of a bird are provided with delicate nerves which operate in a similar manner to those of the swim bladder of a fish, so that as the bird is moving forward through the air it is able to take advantage of a rising column of air. As a whole, we may consider that the rising columns of air would be half of the total area of the earth's surface, so that a soaring bird would always have a rising column of air which would serve as a support.—[Hiram S. Maxim, in North American Review.

FAVORABLE RESPONSE.

To Challenge Submitted to New York Club by Yachtsman Rose.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Secretary Oddie of the New York Yacht club last night sent the following cablegram to Secretary Thellusson of the Royal Victoria Yacht club and Charles D. Rose, the challenger: Thellusson, Secretary Royal Victoria Yacht Club, Ryde, England:

Challenge accepted. Committee appointed with full power to arrange conditions.

ODDIE, Secretary.

A cablegram was sent to Charles D. Rose, as follows:

Challenge accepted. Have notified Thellusson. ODDIE, Secretary.

The above cablegrams were the result of a protracted meeting of the New York Yacht club, which had been specially called to consider the challenge of Charles D. Rose for the America's cup. Commodore Brown presided. After a brief consideration of the terms of the challenge, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That whereas an unconditional challenge for the America cup, stating load-water line length of challenger has been received from the Royal Victoria Yacht club in the name of Charles D. Rose.

Resolved, That the challenge be accepted, and be it further

Resolved, That a committee of seven be appointed by the commodore with full power to confer with the challenger and arrange the conditions of the match.

As soon as final arrangements will have been completed the committee shall report the same to the club. The committee appointed by the commodore is the committee of 1895, and is as follows: Ex-Commodore J. D. Smith, chairman; A. C. Canfield, J. F. Tams, A. L. Fish, Gouverneur Kortright, Archibald Rogers and J. R. Bush.

The committee went into session at 11:39 p. m., and Secretary Oddie said the result of their deliberations would not be made known for a day or two.

CLARK IS DETERMINED.

May Call on Military to Prevent a Mill at Hot Springs.

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 15.—Governor Clark yesterday furnished fresh evidence of his determination to prevent the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight in Arkansas. A telegram was sent by the governor to Brigadier General Taylor of the Arkansas State Guard, summoning him to a conference at once. The meaning of the conference is that the governor desires to acquaint himself with the available strength of the state militia, so that he may act knowingly if the situation at Hot Springs reaches a crisis where the services of the militia may be required.

A vigorous determination to prevent the fight is discernible in the significant proceedings at the executive office. The governor says Corbett and Fitzsimmons have been warned, and if they now arrive at Hot Springs, bent on the mission of fighting, their presence in the city or county will be considered an overt act, and will be treated accordingly.

Governor Clark said he did not want to see any blood shed as a result of the pugilists' refusal to refrain from making preparations to fight. He sincerely hoped that it would be avoided. "I am neither seeking nor slighting any responsibility in this matter," he continued, "and will do my duty."

When questioned in reference to the proposition to change the affair into a glove contest, Governor Clark said that he could make no distinction between a glove contest and a prize fight; it was a prize fight, no matter what it was called.

Records Lowered.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 15.—At Fountain Ferry track yesterday afternoon William DeCardy of the Morgan & Wright team broke the two-mile record, making it in 3:52 2-5. The previous record of 3:54 4-5 was held by Johnson. A tandem manned by E. E. Anderson and Herman Van Herrick broke the world's mile tandem record, 1:51; established a two-mile record of 3:52 2-5; three miles, 6:01; four miles, 8:09, and five miles, 10:23. Gardiner-Wright team then broke the world's record for five miles in 9:58 2-5. Gardiner also broke the three-mile record in 5:55 2-5 and four-mile record in 7:58 2-5.

A NEW ORGANIZATION

Directing Its Efforts Against Granting Municipal Suffrage to Women.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—The Massachusetts Man Suffrage association has opened headquarters at 7A Park street, this city, and are preparing to make an active campaign. They issued the following circular, signed by 100 prominent men of the state:

To the People of Massachusetts:

A law was passed by the last legislature providing that all persons qualified to vote for school committee at the approaching state election, whether male or female, shall have an opportunity at that election to express their opinion either in the affirmative or negative on the question:

"Is it expedient that municipal suffrage be granted to women?"

The question is of grave and far-reaching importance.

As has been declared by the supreme court of the United States, no man or woman has a natural or inherent right to vote. The question must be decided by considering what the welfare of the public as a whole demands. The preamble to the constitution of Massachusetts contains the following impressive statement: "The whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good."

The laws of nature plainly call for a division of labor and responsibility between the sexes. Equality does not require a similarity of function.

To create conditions which suggest that the power to make the laws may be in a body different from that which has the power to enforce the laws is objectionable. To more than double the total number of voters is, in itself, no advantage.

Women, as compared with men, have but little experience in private or trust or corporate business affairs. This is not due to our laws, but to other causes. Our city and town governments are great public business corporations. So long as the relative inexperience of women in business affairs continues, it is not to be expected that the combined vote of men and women will give as good results as the vote of men alone; and we submit, therefore, that the rights and property of our citizens, female as well as male, are now better protected and more intelligently cared for than they would be if the mass of voters should be doubled by establishing woman suffrage.

We submit that woman suffrage will not promote the happiness or physical welfare of woman, and that it will not tend to her social or moral elevation, and that it will not prove a benefit, but rather an injury to the family, which is the basis of growth and prosperity of the state.

For the welfare of the community as a whole, we urge those who vote, whether men or women, to vote "No." We do not feel justified in urging women to register simply for the purpose of voting on this question. The unwillingness of women to assume the duties of voters is so wide spread and so well recognized, and has been so plainly indicated by the smallness of their registration to vote for members of the school committee, that the fact that a woman fails to register and vote cannot be justly construed, and will not be construed, either by the public or by our legislators, as an assent to or approval of the scheme of woman suffrage.

Lillian Drew Dead.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Lillian Drew, an actress, died at the New York Polyclinic hospital after an operation for cancer, from which she had been suffering for some years. She was about 30 years old, and was born in Franklin, Conn., where her mother now lives. Her name was Nannie M. Hastings. Her 10-year-old daughter is now in Franklin.

Strict Inquiry Ordered.

MADRID, Oct. 15.—Admiral Beranger has ordered that a strict inquiry be made into the capture, by the Cuban insurgents, near Santiago de Cuba, of the Spanish patrol boat and disarming of the guard of marines on board of her. The lieutenant who was in command of the boat is to be summarily punished, if the facts in the case are as reported.

Canadian Bank Closes.

CHATHAM, Ont., Oct. 15.—S. Barfoot's bank has closed, as the owner says he "deemed it wise to liquidate, owing to large withdrawals of deposits and an underlying feeling of distrust, causing further loss and no hope of gain." The failure is a great surprise.

Wolverines' Request Granted.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Postmaster General Wilson says that the request of the Michigan people for faster mail service will be granted. If a faster service cannot be secured over American lines, Canadian lines will be utilized.

Fouled the Cable.

HALIFAX, Oct. 15.—The Gloucester (Mass.) schooner Aroostook, which had dropped anchor on the banks near Sable island, fouled the deep-sea cable. The schooner cut her hawser to save the cable from damage.

Mexico's Great Storm.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Official news from Guaymas states that the Mexican schooner Comet is a total loss near Altamura, 15 miles south of Altata. The steamer Diego lost her rudder and stern posts on the Altata bar. Sixteen coasting vessels in all were wrecked at La Paz. One hundred and eighty-four houses were destroyed in La Paz. Five lives were lost.

First Married in Boston.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 15.—William Atwood, who recently pleaded guilty to the charge of bigamy, was yesterday given two years at hard labor in state prison. Atwood was first married in Boston, and in 1894 he went to West Orange and was married to Annie V. Cannliff, who, finding that he had another wife, caused his indictment.

Story Was a Fake.

MONTREAL, Oct. 15.—Vincent Meredith, manager of the Bank of Montreal, contradicts the dispatch to the effect that the Bank of Montreal had determined not to accept hereafter more than $10 in American silver from any one customer. No such measure had been taken or even talked of by the directors of the bank.

Would It Work Well?

TACOMA, Oct. 15.—George Hazzard, a member of Custer post, Grand Army, has given notice that he will offer a resolution providing that Custer post memorialize congress for the passage of a law admitting disabled ex-Confederate soldiers to the national soldiers' homes on exactly the same basis as ex-Union soldiers.

AN OLD-FASHIONED EXHIBITION.

There was a good-sized and very enthusiastic audience at Hazard Memorial hall last evening, when Sullivan's Comedians opened their four nights' run in "Kitty of Cork." This is one of the old-fashioned exhibitions of pictures of prominent places in Ireland, supplemented by brief descriptions of the scenes and by a running show, representing the fortunes of a party journeying through the country, with the ever present jaunting car driver to make the fun. In recent years photographic views thrown on a screen, and supplemented by a more or less elaborate historical and descriptive address, have replaced these old-fashioned exhibitions, but that the latter, especially when the fun is produced by clever people, still have a place in the hearts of the public was shown last night. The paintings representing different scenes in Ireland were not so satisfactory as the stereopticon views which have in the past few years been shown at St. Patrick's night entertainments by the parish, but those present last night left the hall pleased at the excellent performance of the company. The dialogue of the play was not so elaborate as that in "Sowing the Wind," the singing was not so good as the rival "Mikado" people promise, and the dancing and negro comedian work has been excelled by the big minstrel shows, but, taken all together, the people were well satisfied, as was shown by the frequent applause and the pleased expressions on their faces as they passed out. Though there were but five performers aside from the pianist and the man who exhibited the pictures, these five were kept busy from beginning to end, and did clever work. The performance will be repeated this and tomorrow evenings and Thursday afternoon and evening, and should have good houses.

HOLY CROSS CHAPEL'S ANNIVERSARY.

Last evening the Newport Convocation assisted in celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the consecration of Holy Cross Chapel, Middletown. The services were held in St. Mary's Church, South Portsmouth, which, though not the scene of the consecration, afforded a larger seating capacity, and this was all taken. The rector, Rev. George Herbert Patterson, conducted the services, which were attended by Rev. Dr. Mulchahey of Trinity parish, New York, Rev. Dr. C. G. Gilliat, Rev. E. L. Buckey, Rev. Hamilton Schuyler and Rev. J. C. Jones. Rev. Dr. Mulchahey made an historical address, giving reminiscences of the parish when he was rector, a brief sketch of its history and some remarks on the duties of the future. Rev. Mr. Patterson gave a brief history of the parish since the close of Dr. Mulchahey's pastorate. The choir of St. George's Church, assisted by Mrs. G. E. Hill, Mrs. H. H. Smith and Mr. H. W. Rankin, with Mr. G. E. Hill of St. George's as organist, sang, giving much of the festival service which is in preparation for the regular choir guild service at St. John's October 31.

PEANUT GROWING IN NEWPORT.

An old resident says that Postmaster Young is not the first to raise peanuts in this city, but that before the enterprising representative of the United States Postoffice Department was born peanuts were raised in family gardens in what is now the heart of the city. Mr. James Pearson of Berkeley street says that in 1862 he transplanted peanuts from the battlefield of Fredericksburg, Va., to his garden on that street, but they did not thrive very well. The next year, 1863, he planted some nuts in a tub with Virginia soil, and they matured. The plant and peanuts were given to "Peanut Joe," and were on his stand on the Parade for some time.

TROUBLE OVER A MILLIONAIRE'S WILL.

By the will of the late Walter Langdon, the deceased millionaire of Hyde Park, N. Y., whose country place is now owned by Fred W. Vanderbilt, his estate was directed to be divided between eighteen nephews and nieces, giving each of them about $100,000. One of the nephews, William Borcel, died earlier than Mr. Langdon, and Judge Barnard has been asked to decide who should receive the $150,000. The executors, Walter L. Kane and De Lancey A. Kane, are perplexed, as the legatees under the will claim that the money passes to them, and the heirs of William Borcel assert that Mr. Langdon intended to give a separate estate to each of the legatees. The decision was reserved.

Clarke as second councilman from the Second ward, and from James S. Hazard as alderman from the Fourth ward. The Democratic city committee will meet this evening to fill the vacancies on the various ward tickets.

—The old Hull house on Elm street, which the board of health condemned and wanted torn down, as it was deemed to be impossible to properly repair it, will no longer cause annoyance to the health department, as it is about two thirds demolished. There are some other houses in town, not so old as this, which require attention, and which the neighbors think should be marked dangerous, and tenants warned against using them until they are put in proper sanitary condition.

—William Allanach, fireman at the Training Station, and brother of Mrs. Cain, matron of the station hospital, who was sent to the Newport Hospital Sunday, suffering from brain trouble, died there yesterday. As the physicians were in doubt as to the cause of death, and there were reasons for believing that there might have been foul play, an autopsy was ordered. It was held yesterday, and showed that the affection of the brain from which death ensued resulted from natural causes. The deceased will be buried this afternoon.

A CONFESSED BIGAMIST.

A man wanted by the New Bedford authorities was arrested last evening by Detective Reardon in Providence, on a warrant charging him with bigamy. The offender is Edward G. Allen, alias Mr. Wilson, and is thirty-one years of age.

Some three years ago Allen or Wilson married a New Bedford girl of good family. Early this autumn he became acquainted with Miss Sarah Smith of New Bedford, and October 3 was united to her in marriage by Rev. Mr. Phelps in this city.

Last Thursday he left second his wife and went to Providence, then to New Bedford, and later returned to Providence. In the meantime the second wife had received news of the first marriage and had stated the case to Inspector Hathaway of New Bedford. The inspector heard that his man had gone to Providence and followed him there. At police headquarters he gave a complete description of the man. Detective Reardon was detailed in the case, found the man on Ship street and, armed with a warrant charging him with bigamy, arrested him. The twice-married man admitted his offence and seemed to be sorry for those he had duped, especially for his recent wife, who, he said, had married him in good faith. He was taken to the detectives' quarters, and later sent to the New Bedford authorities.

October 3d Allen, accompanied by Miss Smith, applied for a marriage license at Fall River, and on giving their residence as New Bedford they were told to go to that city for a permit. They then came to Newport and procured a license at the city clerk's office, by representing themselves to be residents of Newport, he twenty nine and she twenty-seven years of age. He gave his name as Edwin Walter Allen and his birthplace as Wheeling, W. Va. Miss Smith gave England as her place of birth. The pair then went to the residence of Rev. Mr. MacDonald on Spring street, and finding him absent proceeded to the First Baptist parsonage, where, everything appearing to be correct, Rev. Mr. Phelps married them. Allen said to him that he had been a watchman in New Bedford, but was then living and proposed to live in Newport.

Voted, to appropriate $30 to highway district No. 15, to be used in graveling the roads in the district.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian Church will hold its weekly meeting Wednesday afternoon in the vestry of the church.

"THE NIGHT CLERK."

Peter F. Dailey will be seen for the first time in Newport in Mr. John J. McNally's latest success, "The Night Clerk," at the Opera House tomorrow evening. The play comes direct from the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, where it has met with unusual success, and the company will include the popular Jennie Yeamans, Gertrude Fort, John Sparks, Raymond Hitchcock, Frank Tannehill, jr., Freda Depew, M. J. Sullivan, Hugh Mack, Rita Emmerson, William Keough, Bertie Dyar, Charles Sturgis, Ida Rock, Peter Randall, Eva Butler, Lawrence Sheehan, and the Olympia Quartette.

"HUMANITY."

"Humanity," the latest London success by Sutton Vane, which was produced for the first time in America at the Bowdoin Square Theatre, Boston, by Manager William A. Brady, will be seen at the Opera House Thursday evening. The story of "Humanity" is one of love and war, told in such a manner as to hold the interest of the audience closely throughout its five acts. The scenes of the first, second and fifth acts are laid in England, and those of the third and fourth in the Transvaal in Africa. The English scenes include a fox-hunt, in which a number of English thoroughbred horses are introduced. There are twenty-six speaking parts in the drama, and the cast includes Joseph Grismer, Miss Phoebe Davies, C. Jay Williams, Harlee Kirkland, Reebe Vining, Ross O'Neil, Ethel Barrington, Clarence Ferguson, Arthur Athens and John Haney. The scenery, a potent factor in the production, is the joint work of John A. Thompson, Harley Merry and J. R. Wilkins.

NEW VESSELS OF THE NAVY.

Plans and specifications for the two battleships authorized by the last Congress will be completed this week and furnished to five shipbuilding firms, which have intimated to the Navy Department an intention of being competitors for the contracts for these vessels. As the Union Iron Works is the only firm on the Pacific slope which has applied for plans and specifications it is expected that it will be the only bidder, and will, therefore, be awarded the contract for one of the vessels, as directed by the law authorizing them. The competing Atlantic coast firms are Cramp & Sons, the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, the Bath Iron Works and the Columbian Iron Works. The department's plans contemplate all Scotch boilers, capable of producing ten thousand horse power. The department has calculated that this ought to be sufficient to drive the vessels at the required speed—sixteen knots. According to an official letter from Engineer-in-Chief Melville, the conditions must be unusually favorable in order that the vessels may attain this speed on their official trials.

Secretary Herbert is expected to place this week the contracts for the six composite gunboats and the three torpedo boats bids for which were opened a couple of weeks ago. It has been definitely settled to award the contracts for two of the torpedo boats to the Herreshoff firm and one to Moran, on the Pacific coast.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
